

A LIST OF RECENTLY PUBLISHED ARTICLES ON THE AVIFAUNA OF TRINIDAD & TOBAGO

by the Editor

A considerable amount of ornithological work has been done in Trinidad and Tobago during the last decade, much of it emanating from scientists connected with the William Beebe Tropical Research Station at Simla in the Arima valley. Accounts of this work have been published in the various ornithological journals, but the distribution of these is limited to subscribers. Some copies, however, have reached the Secretary of the T.F.N.C. and most can still be obtained by interested persons, if they write to the authors for reprints. It has occurred to me that these accounts of field-work done in our islands ought to be readily available to members of the Club, so I have here compiled a list of all ornithological publications dealing with the avifauna of Trinidad and Tobago during the last ten years or so. I have omitted articles published in the T.F.N.C. journals during this time, also accounts given in books available to the general public. Apology is made in advance to any authors whose work may have been omitted here, either through ignorance or oversight.
